EASTERN DATES TO FEB. 23.

EASTERN STATES.

Passive Policy in Illinois.

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—The Democratic Central Committee met to-day and after a discussion of the political situation decided to issue a call for a State Convention. This action is considered favorable to the passive policy.

The Thumb Suckers in Ohio.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 22.—The Democratic State Central Committee met here to-day and adjourned until June 13th without fixing a day for a State Convention.

New York News.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Dispatches from all the principal cities report a general observance of Washington's birthday. Vice President Colfax addressed the Brooklynites to-night. In the course of his address the Vice President referred to the Alabama claims, and said England was bound by the Treaty of Washington and the decision of the arbitrators, and would have to pay the debt in full.

Gen. Sickles was banquetted at Delmonico's by his comrades of the 3d army corps.

At a meeting of the League Club to-night a report was made showing that the single sect of Roman Catholics has, by alliance with the Tammany ring, drawn from the treasury of the city of New York within three years for the support of its convents, churches, schools and asylums, $1,396,388, while all other sects obtained but $329,572. It is also said to have secured for nothing absolute title in fee the whole block between Fourth and Fifth avenues and Fifty and Fifty-first streets, valued at $1,500,000. besides several other blocks worth $2,000,000 at nominal rates. It concluded by adopting a resolution favoring the passage by the Legislature of the 1870 charter, but asking the insertion of a clause prohibiting the granting of money or property in aid of sectarian institutions by the city, and for the amendment of the State Constitution to the same effect, and a similar amendment to the National Constitution.

An octogenarian named Margaret Wilson yesterday morning, while indulging in her habit of smoking in bed, set fire to the bed and was burned to death.

It has been arranged that Wheeler and Peckham shall represent the prosecution in the trial of the Hall indictments on Monday next. Hall will defend himself in person, assisted by his law partner, Vanderpool.

The Judiciary Committee of the Legislature still continue their investigations of Judges Barnard and Cardoza in secret, much to the surprise of the public. Judge Cardoza was present yesterday with his counsel. Several lawyers testified concerning the famous black Friday gold suits, but nothing startling was developed. Judge Barnard was outside of the committee room last evening, and his counsel has asked to be informed of the charges against him. The World thinks these Judges should resign.

Dispatch from Omaha.

OMAHA, Feb. 22.—The Supreme Court to-day decided that the present extra session of the Nebraska State Legislature is illegal, constitutionally. The Legislature has disbanded.

WASHINGTON CITY.

The Negotiations with England—Miscellaneous.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Charles F. Adams arrived here this morning. He states that he was in Naples when the letters arrived which induced him to return home, solely on private business. Until he reached Geneva he was unaware of the controversy with regard to the Alabama claims.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has prepared a decision on the New York Central Railroad dividend case and will probably promulgate it to-morrow.

Information from Philadelphia states that the Legislature adjourned sine die at noon Monday last. It is stated the counsel of the Governor asserts that this adjournment of the high court of impeachment without day is tantamount to a dismissal of the charges against him. This question it was understood would be referred to the Supreme Court.

CANADA.

Murderer Executed.

TORONTO, Feb. 22.—John Travis was executed today for the murder of one Johnson some months ago.

WEST INDIES.

Affairs in Hayti.

HAYTI, Feb. 11—via HAVANA.—Troubles are multiplying in Hayti, and the stability of the present Government is more uncertain than ever.

An attempt was made on the night of the 5th to burn the city of Port au Prince. The flames burst out simultaneously in different quarters of the city and consternation prevailed. A revolutionary outbreak was feared. The troops were ordered out and the President and Ministers were in the streets all night. The fires were extinguished before great damage was done. Seven supposed incendiaries were arrested and await trial.

Cuban Affairs.

HAVANA, Feb. 22.—The Spanish iron-clad Numa [illegible] arrived at Guatemala yesterday.

The American, Spanish, English, German and Swedish war vessels were decorated and fired salutes to-day in honor of Washington's birthday. A ball was given in the afternoon on board the U. S. steamer Terror.

A card is published calling upon the French residents of this Island to contribute to the payment of the German indemnity.

The British schooner Lark, which was seized a few weeks ago by a Spanish cruiser on suspicion of landing arms for the insurgents, has been released.

The U. S. steamer Kansas, now in this port, will sail on Saturday for Key West, to take on board an expedition for the survey of the Nicaragua route.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

French Affairs.

PARIS, Feb. 22.—The Minister of Foreign Affairs, Remusat, gave a reception to the members of the Diplomatic corps. The American legation and Consulate were present.

The Bourse is illuminated to-night in honor of Washington's birthday.

Gen. Cissey is ill, and it is thought he will be obliged to resign the Ministry of War.

It is again reported that Lamoricier will be appointed Embassador to Rome.

The publication of the newspaper Gaulois and Larnce have been suspended by the Government.

Dispatch from Berlin.

BERLIN, Feb. 22.—It is reported that Bismarck proposes to issue invitations to the Powers for an International Congress, the object of which will be to establish a system of mails and uniform rates of postage, and to facilitate the transmission and exchange of mails.

Spanish Affairs.

MADRID, Feb. 22.—Radical leaders are deliberating as to what attitude to assume toward the new Ministry. A meeting will be held to-night at which it is expected decisive action will be taken.

CALIFORNIA.

Passengers for Oregon.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 23.—The following passengers passed Carlin yesterday, to arrive here this evening. John Hughes, British Columbia; S. Redlich, Portland; D. E. Pease and wife, Oregon, F. O. McCown, Oregon City; W. J. Phillips, Oregon City; W. Cochrane, Roseburg; W. B. Speats, B. C.; J. F. Case, wife and three children, Mrs. C. S. Dyer, Isam White, I. Kaufman, J. H. Mitchell and Rev. Geo. H. Atkinson, Portland.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 23.—A married woman living at 46 Jessie street, says that on Wednesday night a man climbed into the window of her room. She seized an ax and chopped him repeatedly on the hand, and that he then left his hat with five cuts in it. The ax is covered with blood. In the middle of the room is a quantity of blood, as if the struggle had taken place there, and not at the window, and people say they heard the noise of a loud and angry altercation going on. The trail of blood was traced to the corner of Anthony and Mission streets, where a large pool of blood was found, and beyond this nothing can be ascertained. She is forty-five years of age, and weighs two hundred and forty pounds. She was married six weeks since to McEvery, an employe of the University grounds at Oakland. The affair is a puzzling one for the police.

A French girl, known as Mathilde, made two ineffectual attempts to drown herself at Meigs' wharf yesterday, on account of being discarded by her lover.

The overland train did not reach this city until a quarter past 10 o'clock last night, having been detained an hour and a half by a land slide in Livermore Pass.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE OREGON STATE TEMPERANCE ALLIANCE.

SECOND ANNUAL CONVENTION.

SALEM, February 22, 1872.

The Alliance was called to order at 10 o'clock A. M. by T. W. Davenport, and the session opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. Butcher, of Albany. Present—about 240 delegates. A Committee on Credentials, consisting of J. M. Garrison, J. J. Murphy and Tilman Ford, was appointed. In a few minutes the committee appeared and reported. Report received and adopted. J. Quinn Thornton moved that the list of members of last year's Convention be added to the report. After considerable discussion and several dilatory motions, the motion was carried. Mr. Loughary moved that all persons interested in the Temperance cause be admitted to seats on the floor; carried after long and spirited discussion. E. W. Ryan moved to reconsider, which motion was carried, and previous question lost. After much debate it was decided that all persons of known temperance principles be allowed to vote after enrolling their names at the Secretary's desk. Mr. Jacob Stitzel offered preamble and resolutions which were referred to a special committee of ten, with instructions to report this afternoon. The Convention then adjourned to meet at 1½ P. M.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Convention was called to order at 1:15 P. M. Report of Executive Committee called for. The committee, by Prof. L. L. Rogers, chairman, asked for further time; granted. The committee appointed to consider the resolutions offered by Mr. Stitzel reported back the following preamble and resolutions:

WHEREAS, A Convention of the Temperance element of this State has been called to devise ways and for the suppression of the liquor traffic, and to aid and encourage organized associations working for this end; and

WHEREAS, It has become our duty as good and law-abiding citizens, for our own protection, to protest against the increasing taxation which is yearly becoming a greater burden for us to bear, and which is directly traceable to this enemy of morality and good order—Rum, and the [illegible]

WHEREAS, The time has arrived when the protest of the morally-disposed and temperance people of this State must be made against the law which sanctions the sale and manufacture of spirituous liquors,—a process which is slowly undermining our happiness as a people, desolating once happy homes and firesides, poisoning the minds and morals of our growing youth, the cause of our unjust taxation to support prisons and asylums from which we derive no benefit, fostering in our large towns and cities a community of crime which will disappear with the whisky saloons and tending by its insidious influence to sap our growth and existence as a people; therefore be it

Resolved, That this Convention now proceed to a permanent organization.

Resolved, That the name of the Association shall be the "Oregon State Temperance Alliance;" that it shall be composed of members of this Convention, and other men and women, who their past record shall be known as firm friends to the Temperance cause and shall co-operate with all temperance organizations of whatever name and nature.

Resolved, That this body be governed in its business management by the following officers:

President, three Vice Presidents, Recording Secretary, Corresponding Secretary, Treasurer, Chaplain, Sergeant-at-Arms, and an Executive Committee to be composed of one from each county, whose duties shall be identical with those governing other and similar bodies; and said election shall take place immediately after the adoption of these resolutions.

The report was received and unanimously adopted.

Rogers moved the election of President by ballot. Carried.

Walling moved that all spectators, not delegates, be invited to seats in the gallery. After a lively discussion, the motion was lost.

The Committee on Credentials presented a supplemental report, which was adopted.

J. H. D. Henderson moved that none but delegates present be allowed to vote. The motion met with strong opposition from delegates holding proxies, but was finally carried.

W. H. Lewis and T. McF. Patton were appointed Assistant Secretaries. On the first ballot for President 197 votes were cast, of which 67 were for S. C. Simpson, 38 for S. C. Adams, 29 for Jacob Conser and 63 scattering. On the second ballot 210 votes were taken; S. C. Adams 105, S. O. Simpson 89, Conser 18. Mr. Simpson moved the election of Mr. Adams by acclamation. Carried.

The remainder of the offices were filled viva voce as follows: Jacob Stitzel, J. H. D. Henderson, C. H. Walker, Vice Presidents; James. A. Smith, Secretary; S. C. Simpson, Corresponding Secretary; I. D. Driver, Chaplain; W. H. Lewis, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Executive Committee—J. W. Wooden, Yamhill; L. L. Rogers, Marion; Thos. Pierce, Polk; J. H. Lambert, Clackamas; A. G. Walling, Multnomah; David Porter, Linn; Jas. Chambers, Benton; Wm. T. Baxter, Tillamook; Stewart Eakin, Lane; Isaiah Hacker, Coos; Judge Jackson, Washington; A. B. Meacham, Umatilla; Wm. Bonham, Grant; Wm. Michell, Wasco; D. W. Lichtenthaler, Union; F. H. Grubbs, Baker; B. F. Giltner, Columbia; Rev. J. H. Skidmore, Jackson; John Kuykendall, Douglas; A. Hinman, Clatsop.

As Multnomah county was called, the names of A. G. Walling and Mrs. A. J. Duniway were mentioned. The Chair ruled in favor of Walling's nomination, whereupon, Mrs. Duniway effervesced with the wrath of the righteous, in a brisk little speech of five minutes: "Is gag law to be the law and rule of this body? Am I, a representative of the people and of oppressed humanity in general, to be thus choked off, my rights disregarded and the cause which I represent to be ignored. I certainly heard my name mentioned as a member from Multnomah, yet the nomination is disregarded. Are men the only ones interested in the Temperance Cause, and the suppression of the liquor traffic? No sir! women claims a deep an abiding interest in this work, and demands representation here to-day. I am sorry that you have thus slighted her claims, for her power, her influence is one of the elements of success in your work so well began. I would have you heed her voice, and give to all equal and exact justice. [Sensation.]

The Chairman—"It has been and shall be my endeavor to dispense 'equal and exact justice to all men.' Mrs. Duniway's rights must and shall be respected, but I regret that the fairness of the Chair has been called in question." A gentleman—Mr. Vandewort, I believe—had the floor when some one shouted Mrs. Duniway, in the rear of the Hall; too late, however, as Mr. Walling had been named to the Convention.

Adams—I am sure if there may be such a thing as stretching the line a little, I shall always strive to embrace the sisters. [Loud laughter.]

Mr. Northrup nominated Mrs. Duniway as Member at Large. Carried amid cries of victory!

Prof. Rogers, from the Committee on Resolutions, introduced a series of resolutions providing for the passage of a law similar to the Ohio statute regulating the liquor business. It provides that, upon obtaining license to sell, the dealer shall give bonds in the sum of $10,000.

Wooden moved to amend by striking out ten and inserting twenty thousand dollars.

Judge Thornton—We are now, for the first time in the history of our State, engaged in a serious consideration of measures looking to the present limitation and future suppression of the liquor traffic. Our action upon this resolution will have great influence upon the destiny of the temperance cause in this State. "When Greek meets Greek, then comes the tug of war." We have arrived at that point where that which we say and do will have a telling influence on the future. So it becomes us as temperance men, having the interests of the peace-loving and good citizen at heart, to measure well the step we are about to take, and ponder the consequences of our proposed action. It is here proposed to enact a law which requires the dealer in spirituous liquors to give bonds in the sum of twenty thousand dollars. Go to your Legislature with such a bill as that, urge its passage, and what would be its fate? It would not receive ten votes. You think it essential to peace and social harmony that we should destroy an unwise and unjust license system. But all the people of this State cannot see this necessity. Your amendment is, in plain terms, Prohibition; but I warn you, sir, that you cannot pass so grave and important a measure in advance of public sentiment. The General who [illegible] his business never goes far in advance of his supports. No party can go before the people of this State to-day, with Prohibition inscribed upon its banners, and meet with success. Upon such an issue defeat is as certain as that the sun rises and sets. Frame a bill moderate in its demands, tending to educate public sentiment, and you will best serve the interests of our people. But do not seek to compel results [illegible]" [Prolonged applause.]

Mr. Stitzel endorsed the last speaker's views. "A provision like this amendment would certainly kill the bill. Make the dealer give bonds in the sum of $5,000, and you would make the business more respectable. [Cries of "Humbug!" and "O, No!"] I know well what I say. By reducing this bond to the figures mentioned, you would get the support of the better class engaged in the liquor traffic. It is for the interest of this class to protect themselves and their business from every low, degraded ragamuffin who may choose to set up a den of vice. Be wise, be prudent, in advancing to this mighty conflict. Be warned by the experiences of the last quarter of a century; learn "to labor and to wait," and in the fullness of time you may beard the monster in his den and success, complete, triumphant success will be yours." The amendment was lost.

Mr. Nickerson moved to amend by saying "not less than $5,000 nor more than $25,000." Lost, ayes 70, nays 75.

Mr. Lovey offered an amendment providing for submitting the matter of bonds to the County Commissioners and municipal authorities, who have power to grant license, and supported it in a brief argument.

Mr. Driver said he had seen as much of temperance and intemperance as any man on the coast. In dealing with this question he had found it an easy matter to invent measures. But the amendment is not just[illegible] We want a uniform law. Go to Jackson, Josephine, Grant, Union and Baker counties with such a law as this proposes, and you would find that while in the valley counties, Commissioners and city authorities would place high figures in the bond, in the first named counties where intemperance has its [illegible] a merely nominal amount would be required. And, then, after all your vigorous but ill-advised efforts, you would have to come back to the old landmark for a new departure. This is not a question of money. It has its foundation on the broad issue between right and wrong. There you must meet it. Every extreme measure not supported by public feeling, carries in its own bosom the seeds of ultimate destruction. [Applause. Cries "Good!"]

Lovey's amendment was lost without division. The question recurring on the original motion to adopt, a lively discussion ensued between Messrs. Davenport, Nickerson, Henderson, Miller and Imbrie, in which Mr. Davenport referred to some happy memories of his brief but sweet experience in the Oregon Legislature.

And then arose Mrs. Duniway, in response to an invitation from the Chair, who began a witty invective, amid loud and long, continued applause:

"Mr. President, Gentlemen and Ladies: I have always wondered what it was that took up so much precious time in our Legislative bodies—I understand now. Gentlemen, you talk to much. Act more,—talk less. I have listened patiently to your debates and your speeches, and my head is aching terribly from the racket and din of your loud-mouthed orators. You have been talking all the day long, and now I think it but right that you should listen to some resolutions. I have prepared. [Here Mrs. Duniway read a set of resolutions which could not be heard in the great merriment.]—Rep.

I fear—yes, I know—you are very [illegible] You are cautious, afraid to "face the music." "That's what's the matter," (Tremendous burst of laughter and applause.) about these resolutions of mine. Now, don't act too hastily, gentlemen. Judging from your action to-day, I apprehend there is little danger in that direction. We are talking about Prohibition. Go to Portland and attempt to regulate the liquor traffic by the votes of legal voters. Will you succeed? No, indeed! Disastrous failure awaits you unless you seize upon the last chance for salvation. It is this: Give to woman the power necessary to crush this giant evil, and you will no longer blush at the sight of drunken brothers, husbands and fathers reeling home from their [illegible] to pollute the [illegible] of the family [illegible] And yet, gentlemen, you set your faces against this [illegible] and scorn to acknowledge that women can help."

Mr. Curtis—I call the lady to order. She is not discussing the question before the House.

Mrs. Duniway—"I was speaking, sir, by courtesy of the Chair. You have been wasting precious time and breath to-day, and now I would like to have a chance. However, I will submit. [Loud cries of Go on! Good! etc.] Mrs. D. (turning to Mr. Curtis,) "I hope you are satisfied with that, sir. But I will dawn the [illegible] no longer."

Mr. Stitzel moved to refer the whole matter to committee with instructions to report by bill tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Parrish objected. Had worked himself up into a living fever, and wanted to speak about five minutes. He disliked to be choked off, but would sorrowfully yield.

The motion prevailed.

Adjourned, with prayer by Rev. Mr. Small, to meet to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock.

A Disgusting and Horrible Proposition.

A bill has been introduced into the Legislature of California to "regulate the social evil," that is, to license prostitution, in San Francisco and other cities of the State. The grossness and bestiality of the idea are condemned by both press and people, and there is but little prospect that the bill will become a law. The Pacific Medical and Surgical Journal, an eminent authority on all sanitary measures, publishes an editorial on the subject in which it refers to the bill in the following terms:

We see it stated that a bill is to be introduced, or has been introduced, in the Legislature to license and regulate prostitution in San Francisco. It is incredible that when the municipal body representing the city refuse to sanction the proceeding, and when the citizens make no demand for it, the State Legislature will attempt to impose it. It is enough to attempt the introduction of European laws and customs, adverse to the usages and sentiments of the American people, without at the same time invoking the arbitrary authority of the kingly governments of the old world, and ignoring and defying the popular sentiment by enacting a law unasked for by the many and dictated by a few individuals.

Some very adroit burglars lately paid professional visits to a number of dwellings and business houses in Walla Walla, relieving them of the money stowed in places hitherto considered safe. Among other buildings visited was the Union office, where the burglars gathered a few dollars and a plug of tobacco.

THE NEHALEM VALLEY.

PORTLAND, Feb. 15, 1872.

To the Editor of The Oregonian:

SIR: Lately, the word "Nehalem" is frequently seen in your columns. As it has only recently come into notice, many and vague ideas are suggested by it to the minds of many of your readers. Now, having had superior facilities for obtaining information, I propose to give you a definition of the word.

NEHALEM

is the name of a river of Oregon, which rises near the headwaters of Gale's dairy and Scappoose creeks, flows in a winding but generally westerly course, and empties into the Pacific nearly forty miles south of the mouth of the Columbia river.

THE VALLEY

is like most river valleys in this State. There is the "low bottom" land, covered with salmon berry bushes and supporting a sparse growth of alder; very easily cleared, very fertile, and possessing the still further advantage of being fertilized every year by the sediment left by the river during its winter freshet; the bench land with its growth of alder and soft maple, also good farming land, and finally the hills covered with a dense growth of cedar, fir and some spruce. In most parts of the valley claims may be found containing portions of each of these, and as springs are plenty on the hill-sides, each settler may have the coolest and purest water delivered directly into his cabin. As the valley is about one hundred miles long and from two to fifteen wide, here are to be found homes and farms for many [illegible] The land is very rich, producing in abundance vegetables of good quality and large size. The cedar is unusually fine. I have heard several lumbermen [illegible] that it was the best they ever had seen. In addition to the lands already described, there are many swales covered with coarse grass and supporting, in some places, a fine growth of ash.

SETTLEMENTS.

There are several settlements along the river, the oldest of which is at and below the crossing of the military road from Forest Grove to Astoria, several claims being taken up in this vicinity. There is a pack trail from here to Astoria, a distance of thirty-five miles. This is generally known as the lower or Walker's settlement. The upper settlement is about ten or twelve miles above this, and six or eight miles from the Columbia at a point immediately between Oak Point and Westport. The valley is here much wider than below, and this, taken in connection with the less distance to the Columbia, makes it the more desirable place to settle. There are some twenty-five claims taken up in this [illegible], and the settlers seem to be a determined, energetic class. They have already nearly completed a wagon road from the center of the settlement to the Columbia river, and at the last session of the Columbia County Court, through the kindness and with the help of Sheriff Williams, their road was incorporated as a county road, and they were set off as a precinct. The survey of the runs directly through the settlement, and the settlers are very confident that the road will be running in a year or two. This would place them in direct communication with both Portland and Astoria, and, since they escape the June overflow, with these facilities for communication their locality would have many advantages over the one on the Columbia.

This railroad becomes more a necessity each year, and each winter brings more strongly upon us the desire to have it built. Should it be built, which without doubt it will be, and that very soon, it must pass for nearly forty miles through this beautiful and fertile valley, destined to become literally the garden of Oregon.

What more flattering prospects could settlers wish? What greater advantages can they find?

Washington's Authority

On Washington's birthday the Herald mis improved the occasion by remarking that some of our people meaning the Republican party had wandered away from Washington's teachings

No Democratic newspaper should ever quote Washington as an authority That party had its birth in opposition to Washington's teachings Washington left on record his special condemnation of the theories on which it was founded He foretold that those theories would lead to disunion to national disintegration, and to civil war The whole scheme on which Jefferson founded the party was deemed by Washington to be dangerous to the peace of the country and the perpetuity of the Government and utterly subversive of the Constitution The central idea of the Democratic creed is embodied in the resolutions of '98 Those resolutions and all pertaining to them text, code novels pandects institutes gloss and comments, were held by Washington in the strongest disapprobation and their consequences were anticipated by him with the greatest alarm Nor was he in error in his forecastings Sixty years after he had given the warning these pernicious doctrines brought forth their natural fruit The people of one third of the States carried into practice Democratic or Jeffersonian principles and we had secession and civil war For their conduct the only justification they pretended was the rule of Democratic party faith which had been established by Jefferson and acquiesced in for long years by the party which owned him as a leader In short they professed to secede on Democratic principles, and because this was true they had the sympathy of the Democratic party of the Northern States during the war, and as far as possible were aided and abetted by that party

We have not learned that the essential ideas of the Democratic party are changed from what they were when they were denounced by Washington as a departure from the principles on which the Government was established, and as a totally wrong and dangerous interpretation of the nature of the Constitution and the powers of the Government Therefore the propriety of a declaration by a Democratic paper that we are wandering away from Washington's teachings because we do not give the Constitution an interpretation which was specially condemned by him, is not visible Time sets all things right the country will never go back to the vicious doctrines long held and still held by the Democratic party, and which Washington denounced as so full of danger The country has paid dearly for not heeding his admonitions sooner, and neither wants nor needs any more experience like that which it has bought so dearly

Rules of the Arbitration

Uner the sixth article of the Treaty of Washington the three following rules were laid down which are to govern the action of the arbitrators of the two countries in the Conference at Geneva

> A neutral Government is bound, first to use due diligence to prevent the fitting out, arming or equipping, within its jurisdiction, of any vessel which it has reasonable ground to believe is intended to cruise or to carry on war against a Power with which it is at peace, and also to use like diligence to prevent the departure from its jurisdiction of any vessel intended to cruise or carry on war as above, such vessel having been specially adapted, in whole or in part, within such jurisdiction, to warlike use, secondly, not to permit or suffer either belligerent to make use of its ports or waters as the base of naval operations against the other, or for the purpose of the renewal or augmentation of military supplies or arms, or the recruitment of men, thirdly, to exercise due diligence in its own ports and waters, and as to all persons within its jurisdiction, to prevent any violation of the foregoing obligations and duties.

The violation of the principles of these rules by Great Britain during the Southern rebellion constitutes the gravamen of our charges against that power, and affords the basis on which our claims for damages are put forward These rules were deliberately and solemnly accepted by Great Britain, and if she withdraws from or rejects the consequences to which they lead, she will simply, in the face of mankind, repudiate her solemn agreement Will she do this? Can she afford it? The acceptance of these rules by Great Britain was an admission that she was in the wrong, and an acknowledgment of her liability to answer for the consequences of her acts Can she now retreat on the plea that the damages are greater than she had reason to expect?

Mr. and Mrs Meddle

A party of the name of Meddle writes us a long letter to explain a cosmogonic theory which he has had the honor of originating His essay begins thus "Creation and formation of the world, creation and propagation of mankind on the earth, and the laws of nature, we take for our basis a positive and negative in all nature, an opposite of each other, we take God for the positive and mankind for the negative in existence. It required nine meters or degrees of God's nature to create or will man's existence, and it also required nine degrees of God's nature to create the world." Mr Meddle (whose wife joins him in this communication), omits to tell us how he ascertained these things, but doubtless both Mr and Mrs Meddle suppose they fully comprehend them A scoffing world, will, however, be likely to think that these cosmogonists are prone to Meddle with things that they know nothing about Mr and Mrs, Meddle reside in Eastern Oregon Had they written a communication on some useful, interesting and really great topic, for instance on the best varieties of spring peas, or on the opportunities for trout fishing in summer in the streams of the Blue mountain region, we should have printed the whole communication with pleasure

The litigant organ at Salem attempts to show that it was all right to create the office of Assistant Treasurer of State though the Constitution imposes the duties of that office on the Treasurer himself and provides for his salary for performing them Such a construction of the Constitution as that given by those who created this office of Assistant Treasurer and who provided large fees for both Secretary and Treasurer, when the Constitution expressly forbids their having any fees, is rather too latitudinarian for popular consumption The truth is the Constitution was simply overridden for the purpose of creating patronage for the party As a result the emoluments of State officers are increased five thousand dollars per annum beyond the salaries heretofore paid

The Marysville (Cal) Appeal says "The leading members of the legal profession with remarkable unanimity comment adversely upon the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Mrs. Fair, and express surprise at the grounds upon which it was based deeming them for the most part frivolous and wrong The press is almost unanimous in expressions of regret for the reason that the effect must inevitably be to lessen popular confidence in the administration of justice to rich and poor criminals alike That this is the effect no one can doubt who has listened to the common talk on the subject"

It appears that Sumner's civil rights amendment which was tacked to the amnesty bill was accepted The vote on this amendment in the Senate was a tie and the Vice President gave the casting vote in the affirmative This amendment was intended to secure to colored people equal rights with the whites in street and railroad cars, and places of public resort But after this amendment was adopted the bill failed to get the necessary two thirds vote and consequently it did not pass

SHORT PARAGRAPHS

At the late reunion of the Army of the Cumberland at Detroit, General Hooker made a speech in which after highly eulogizing Gen Thomas as a General who was always at the front and always successful he went on to say that with General McClellan it was different You might have fastened a locomotive to him and you could not have drawn him to the front

The Bureau of Education at Washington has just made a discovery that must prove extremely humiliating to the high toned Captains Generals and cyclops extraordinary of the Ku Klux Klan The officers of the Federal Government charged with capturing and detaining the members of the klan declare that out of several hundred prisoners not more than eleven can read, and the ability to sign their confessions quite the exception. The great mass of them are wild, illiterate desperate characters, to whom education is utterly unknown, and among whom the lowest phases of humanity are clearly and unhappily apparent

As a happy tribute of the Prince Alexis to the magnificent fascination of American institutions, it is stated that he took two genuine "veesky cocktails" at a little bar room just round the corner from the Minister's residence, in Washington, sending a servant after one and going himself in person after the second This generous compliment to the superiority of American ideas over those of despotic Europe, while it cannot but occasion a doubt of the diplomatic discretion of a Prince who has thus cast aside his imperial reserve and laves his soul unmindful of diplomatic distinctions and requirements, in the untrammeled deliciousness of a republican drink cannot but make the hearts of Americans, and especially American barkeepers, swell with patriotic emotion

The returns received at the Census Bureau show that there are in the United States 20,320 people who are blind, and of these 96 are deaf and dumb, 75 insane, 105 idiotic, 7 deaf, dumb and insane, and 11 who are deaf, dumb and idiotic, as well as blind The total number of insane persons in the Union is 37,382, of whom 6,353 are found in New York, the largest number reported in any State Only two are reported insane in Nevada, while California has 1,14[illegible], a very large number in proportion to the whole population The little District of Columbia has 479 crazy inhabitants a sad evidence of the demoralizing influence of Congress The deaf and dumb in all the States and Territories number 15,822, and the idiotes 597, according to the census statistics though it is doubtful if all have been included in the latter class who are entitled to the distinction

Governor Hoffman of New York has notified the War Department that the Remington breech loading rifle has been adopted by that State for its infantry militia Heretofore this body has been supplied from the national armory at Springfield, Massachusetts, with the army rifled musket The Remington arm is to be furnished at $12 50 a piece Upon this state of facts the Washington Republican remarks that "the ordnance officials of the Government cannot conceal their chagrin at the prospect of the skilled workmen they have trained up and try to keep employed in the national armory against the day we may need them being forced into private service where their handiwork is put to the use of whoever is ready to pay them the best The chief of ordnance has been entertaining hopes of securing from Congress a liberal appropriation for arming with breech loading weapons the entire militia of the country" It may be added that the plan of purchasing arms from private manufacturers has gradually encroached in England and other European countries upon the Government establishments, and may be attributed, in part at least, to the apparently inevitable red tapeism which prevents Government operations from keeping pace with those of private enterprise. The Remington and other American establishments have sold vast quantities of arms during the last few years to the Governments of continental Europe

The Administration and its Enemies

The following is a quotation from Senator Wilson's speech at the New Hampshire Convention

In the war of 1812 when military preparations and expenses were insignificant compared with the last war, the government lost in various ways (by defalcations) nearly $2 000 000 As a general rule honesty now pervades every department of the present government When dishonesty has [illegible] it has been thoroughly [illegible] Where there have been suspicions [illegible] the most thorough and searching investigations have been made In several of the departments there has not been [illegible] reported The President [illegible] every wrong to be ferreted out It has been asserted in some quarters that there is a disposition on the part of the Administration and Congress to evade investigation Such is not the case In 18[illegible] a Joint Committee of Retrenchment and Investigation was appointed which was in force up to the present Congress One of its members was your own honored Senator Patterson On account of there being a question as to the power of such a committee to administer punishment for malfeasance in office there was at the commencement of the present session of Congress a Senate Committee of Investigation appointed clothed with full power to send for persons and papers and to rigidly examine every subject demanding their attention The President wants honesty in the public servants but the people must help him keep the officials honest There are now 50,000 men in the service of the government, and who can be surprised that there is now and then an instance of dishonesty It has been so in all past times with every government and will be so in the future unless a great change comes over the spirit and dreams of men There never was a more honest or unpretending man than President Grant Having been without much experience in public matters he may have committed some errors in a few appointments But the great bulk of his appointments have been as a general rule better than we have seen for the last forty years Some are in office who ought not to be there long Some say the President accepts presents, but he has not so done except in some very trifling cases An old lady out West eighty two years old recently sent him a pair of stockings, which she had knitted with her own hands She wrote to the President that she had four sons who were in his command in the great rebellion He brought none of them back to her, but he had brought her a country, and she thanked God for it There are some persons nowadays who endeavored to belittle many if not all persons in public stations They reviled the lamented Lincoln when he was renominated and wanted him withdrawn But they did not succeed Lincoln was triumphantly re-elected, and in his own personal character and in the honor and integrity of his Administration he now stands beside the peerless Washington Office holders were never so powerless as at the present time Especially on account of the President's honesty did the speaker believe the people like him and would want to re-elect him, and would do it It was interesting to review the history of General Grant at the opening of the war A quiet, unpretending man, he went down to Springfield, Illinois, to assist in raising and disciplining regiments After twenty organizations had been perfected, Mr Grant was given the command of the 21st, and was commissioned a Colonel He had not money enough to get himself a sword, and he borrowed some to buy one with But what a record he soon made for himself! The ink upon his commission had hardly got dry before under his direction a signal victory was won over an army of 30 000 men Then he rose from step to step until the rebel hosts were conquered and he had gained for himself a high place among the greatest commanders of modern [illegible] believed [illegible] to be the choice of the great mass of Republicans for re-election He had no doubt but that he would carry twenty-eight States and leave only nine for the Democrats

Temperance in Politics

(From the West Side)

We are advised by the highest authority to be temperate in all things, that is to say while a proper zeal and determination is praiseworthy in any good cause we should shun the too common error of going to extremes even in the right A right may be so oppressively exercised as to become a wrong and a proper object may be attempted in such improper ways as to make an undertaking bad It is possible to commit a crime with the best of intentions, and indeed a great part of the toil and suffering of the world is brought about by ill advised actions on the part of man whose object is laudable

One may preach the Gospel with the purest intentions and yet in such a manner as to render both himself and his theme distasteful and thus keep people away from the church instead of drawing them towards it A physician or a parent may, in his anxiety for the health of a patient so dose and nurse and tend a sick man as to kill him with kindness In law, one who repels a wrong may do so with excessive violence and thus become a trespasser himself, and the rule holds good in all the relations of life

Few if any doubt the ills of intemperance in regard to drinking, and none will deny that those reformers who devote themselves to the opposite cause, have a high and holy mission and that their efforts often produce a great deal of good in the world But there is such a thing as overdoing even this cause, and when we hear men who have their hearts in the cause of humanity, talk about what the Good Templars, or any other society should do in politics we feel that they are in a fair way to find out the truths we have set forth

We believe the Good Templars of Oregon, as a rule, strictly obey their law which forbids political discussions knowing that such discussions must be fatal to the very existence of any lodge but it is said that an effort is made to corrupt at least one lodge in this county One enthusiastic individual declares that the vote of the county is so close, that by uniting this lodge, they can defeat any party they wish

Now for the sake of argument let us suppose such to be the case and the lodge goes with the campaign Suppose again that either party adopts a platform and selects a ticket that suits this lodge, they gain, let us say, a dozen votes and the stigma of being controlled by a clique will cost them fifty votes in the county, so that neither party can undertake the job unless the other should, and as there can be no concert of action between the two parties, the first to assemble can not take the risk, for the other would be sure to take advantage of the fact and so act as to insure a victory

Again suppose the Republican party which admittedly contains the greatest majority of temperance men should nominate a ticket distasteful to this political lodge and that the lodge in return should secure the election of the other ticket does any one suppose for an instant that the Democratic members of the Legislature thus elected would on that account fail to vote for Mr Grover as U S Senator because his first official act as Governor was to stand on an awning and shout to a crowd "Boys come and take a drink!" No they would cast their votes for him with the greater haste for that fact and thus the lodge of Good Templars would secure the election of that kind of a man by their efforts to reform the party

Without stopping to comment on the absurdity of a handful of voters attempting to dictate to as many hundred, it is manifest that the course proposed would defeat its own object and be suicidal to the society that attempts it Whatever trickery and corruption may do in the temporary matter of an office nothing but the voice and good will of a fair majority can establish a principle

Tweed's Finances

A letter from New York to a Chicago paper gives the following information concerning the financial operations and present financial standing of the chief thief of Tammany

Tweed's intimate friends say his fortune has been greatly overestimated that while he has a great deal of money he spent vast sums in sustaining political organizations carrying elections supporting loafers, rowdies and a whole box of Tammany hangers-on Every worthless fellow and professional ruffian had been in the habit of going to Tweed for pecuniary aid for years and they declare he supported directly and indirectly hundreds of families whose heads were his tools It is stated that he has never been mercenary but exceedingly greedy of power and willing to pay any price for it It is estimated that Tweed spent from $[illegible] 000 to $850 000 and sometimes $1 000 000 per annum for personal family and political purposes—nearly as much as he made by all his real estate and other operations To Mrs McMullen his nearest friend he is reported to have given over $1 000 000 and to have bestowed on her an annual allowance of $[illegible] 000 to $7 000 Tweed is not believed to have all told more than $700 000 to $800,000 having lost immense amounts by ruinous sacrifices of real estate and various stocks which he has converted and put into such shape as to prevent their seizure in the event of civil suits against him Since the election he has expended money like water to defeat the ends of justice and prevent his downfall—all to no purpose Strange as it may seem he is represented as embarrassed for ready cash that he has really been trying ineffectually lately to get mortgages on real estate No one knows what it has cost him to be the owner and ruler of New York for every official fraudulent voter, fighting man and thief has preyed upon his purse and fairly robbed him of his ill gotten gains His few remaining friends have urged him to quit the country as he can never live down the obloquy under which he labors

Columbia Co Republican Convention

The Republicans of Columbia county will meet in convention at the Court House in St Helens on Saturday March [illegible]th, 1872 for the purpose of electing delegates to attend the State Convention to be held on March 20th

The Republicans are requested to meet in the various precincts on the 2d day March and elect delegates to attend the County Convention according to the apportionment of last election The Committee would recommend that at the same time the precinct meetings elect delegates to attend a second Convention to be held for the purpose of nominating a county ticket at a time to be set by the first Convention

GUADALOUPE MINE Near San Jose, Aug 15 1871

DR A H LONYEA & Co —For a long time I have been afflicted with Rheumatism in my hands and feet the pains most of the time being very severe On the 7th of July I procured some of your UNK WEED REMEDY and after taking only three bottles, find that I am quite restored to health and strength I have had the Rheumatism for eleven (11) years and think that the success of the UNK in curing a disease of so long standing in so short a time is very remarkable

As a tonic and appetizer I have never used with any thing equal to the UNK WEED REMEDY During the time I was taking it I gained fifteen (15) pounds in weight Trusting that this certificate may be useful in inducing others affected as I was to try the UNK,

I remain, very truly yours

THAT BODY.—A coroner's inquest was held yesterday upon the body that the O S N Co sold and Mitchell bought but no clue to the mystery was discovered. The [illegible] Bulletin gives the following as the result of the examination. The box containing the remains was taken to an undertaking establishment, on the corner of Washington and Second streets where a committee of three medical experts examined the body. The body was marked M [illegible] Thomas P D and H Co, Portland and was about five feet four inches in length. Upon opening it the remains were found partly covered with straw and wrapped in an old white blanket considerably worn. The hair was of a light brown color and not very long. In the box was a stake such as is driven at the head of graves which showed unmistakable evidence of having been pulled from the ground. Upon this piece of board was written something with a black lead pencil. One of these names was made out to be Campbell but so nearly was it effaced that there is no certainty of the name. The doctors commenced their examination by removing the black silk neck tie and linen collar, which had been neatly placed around the neck of the deceased and then discovered that the throat had been cut just below what is popularly known as 'Adam's Apple.' The shirt which covered this portion of the body also presented the appearance of having been cut with a sharp instrument. The flesh was so decayed that it was found impossible at first to diagnose the case and although there were several very suspicious circumstances nothing positive could be ascertained. The right arm above the elbow presented the appearance of having been broken or injured during the lifetime of the unfortunate man. The doctors did not find the skull fractured, as was reported to be the case this morning, and which we state in another column. The entrails, stomach etc., had been removed from the abdominal viscera and the vacuum filled with salt, which had acted as a preservative to the flesh and had doubtless prevented it from becoming offensive. The skeleton indicates that the man was about five feet nine inches high, and of slight build, although the skull shows a well developed head both as to size and phrenologically." The Coroner's jury adjourned till to-day.

DESERTING SEAMEN.—U S Commissioner, R Wilcox, was engaged the greater part of two days ending yesterday in the examination of charges of desertion brought by the Captain of the bark Mene against six of his sailors—Wm Powitz Charles Smith T W Lenyer, John Smith, H Otto and W Schilleamp. The Commissioner committed them to jail to await the sailing of the vessel or the requisition of the Captain. The statement of the case is about this. The men shipped on the Mene, an American bottom, at Briton Ferry, England, engaging to go with the vessel to Portland, Oregon, thence, at the Captain's option to any port in China or the Pacific ocean or to any port of Europe or the United States, the entire round of voyages not to exceed thirty months. The sailors claim that having landed at a port in the United States, they are not bound by a contract executed in England. The Captain's counsel, Burmeister & Bellinger argued that the maritime law held the men under such contract with all the force of a contract executed in an American port, and the Commissioner taking the same view of the law held the men. This case may serve as a precedent which will do something toward breaking up the notion that Captains visiting this port have no rights which sailors are bound to respect.

MISCHIEF.—About five o clock yesterday, some miscreant did a piece of mischief at Capt Ankeny's new Market building which stamps the doer a genius of no small calibre. The workmen engaged in taking down the walls had erected a derrick on which were suspended some of the iron columns and arches of the front for the purpose of letting them down to the sidewalk. The derrick was held in its position by a couple of stay ropes stretched across First street and made fast to stakes driven in the ground. When the workmen went to their business yesterday morning, they found the columns and arches thrown down and lying in wreck of fragments. Upon examination it was found that the derrick had been thrown down by cutting the stay ropes at the opposite sidewalks. The hero of this exploit had probably run against the ropes as he was returning home from having 'a night of it,' and in revenge for the injury, had whipped out his knife and at one stroke cleared the sidewalk of the offending obstruction. Fortunately, Capt Ankeny has on hand iron work to replace the broken ones, but for all that his loss is not less than five or six hundred dollars.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.—"Will the reporter of the OREGONIAN inform us what the Police Commissioners have to do with lighting the 'town clock'?" Thus queries the local reporter of the Herald. For the purpose of quieting a fretted and adding a mite to the aggregate sum of human happiness we will answer frankly and fully as the nature of the case seems to demand. We have carefully examined the Constitution of States, several patent office reports Sumner's civil rights bill, the Constitution of the State of Oregon, Watt's collection of hymns the litigant law Grover's speeches against the heathen Chinee, Bill [illegible]'s Guide-book and 'Every man his own Joker,' and we have arrived at the settled conviction that the Police Commissioners have no more to do with the matter of lighting the town clock than anybody else. Really there don't seem to be anybody who has anything to do with it just now.

AN 'INCIDENT' ON A STEAMER.—A few days since a female passenger on board the Dixie Thompson, who was on her way to Cape Disappointment to give her husband a surprise visit gave birth to a bouncing girl. The incident of course created much sensation, as such incidents usually do, among the lady's fellow passengers, and it was suggested discussed and agreed upon that the new comer—the passenger not on the purser's list—should be called in honor of the boat, Dixie Thompson Quinn. The mother, who was no sickly, sentimental thing all nerves and the like of that, took her child in her arms, when the boat arrived at Astoria and walked up to the hotel. It is safe to say that the husband and father Quinn will be able with such a helpmeet as that to make his way in the world. If he don't, his wife will do it for him.

A GENEROUS JURY.—There was a case tried in the Circuit Court yesterday which had more than the usual interest of a law suit. An old lady named Spicer had been employed by W K Smith. Under some sort of circumstances which we do not understand, her service ceased. She claimed a month's pay which Smith refused to give her, hence the suit. Under the instructions of the Court, as applied to the facts, the jury felt compelled to give the defendant a verdict but there had been shown certain circumstances connected with the case which strongly excited the sympathies of the jury in favor of the old lady, and after making up their verdict against her they contributed a dollar apiece for her relief and presented it to her, after their discharge.

BEHIND TIME.—The passenger train left East Portland yesterday at one o clock connecting at a point between the Clackamas river and Oregon City. The delay there in transferring mails, express and passengers, both ways delayed the down train several hours. The train did not arrive at the East Portland depot until seven o'clock last evening in consequence. As the river recedes the delays occasioned by the overflow below Oregon City will be lessened.

A PROPHET.—The trains on the Oregon and California railroad will run as usual, on and after to-day. There was in fact a down train and an up train yesterday, but whether they went through without transfer anywhere we do not know. We are compelled therefore to acknowledge that our friend of the Bulletin is a prophet, and a full fledged one. That grey bearded man may do well in this country yet.

WORSE AND WORSE.—Another lot of chickens were brought into town yesterday and were sold for $9 25 per dozen. We could have eaten chicken at $8 per dozen—if invited out to dinner—but, at yesterday's prices we couldn't conscientiously do it even at the expense of a friend, with inevitable bankruptcy in prospect we could not look upon his face and say his chicken [illegible]" without—sauce.

CONUNDRUM.—Yesterday a rash young man propounded to us. Why are the expenses of the Metropolitan Police like the town clock? We gave it up, when the daring fellow enlightened us thusly. Because they ought to be lighted up. The rash youth still lives to gladden the hearts of his doting parents.

SERENADE.—The East Portland Band paid us the handsome compliment of a serenade last evening, for which they have the acknowledgments of the OREGONIAN concern entire.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The roller skates still run well at the rink.

Multnomah Lodge will do the dramatic Tuesday evening.

It cost the city, last month only $13 88 per day for board of city prisoners.

The Portland postoffice is being enlarged to accommodate growing business.

The steamer Idaho is expected to sail from San Francisco to day for this port.

A lot of bad boys rioted upon a Chinaman on Thursday and put a terrible head on him.

An insane man named W R Beach from Salem was taken to the Asylum Thursday.

Now there will be a muss—the Bulletin reporter intimates that the Herald man is a chicken.

The West Side complains that mail facilities—connection with this city—are constantly getting worse.

The Washington Guard's ball was so gay and festive that the dancers could not tear themselves away till 4 o'clock yesterday morning.

CARD OF ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

To Messrs Wyatt Nosfield, DePrans, Harris Dr Hatch and many others.—The English language is too poor to express to you the gratitude of my heart, for the kind and noble action, in giving your services in such a public testimonial given to me on my return to Portland, as the performance was last Tuesday evening. Also the ladies who so generously came, with their rich musical voices, to make the concert a success. I would not forget to thank Messrs Coburn & McCabe and the press generally for the printing and advertising done free of charge. Also the Trustees of the Baptist Church, I mention with pleasure. And time would fail me to speak of all those ladies who have done so much and were so untiring in their labors of love, during the sickness and death of my child, and the long sickness and death of my wife. Accept, ladies and gentlemen the sincere gratitude of my heart.

SPECIAL CHURCH NOTICES.

NOON DAY PRAYER MEETING.—The noon prayer meeting at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association will hereafter commence at 12½ o clock instead of 12 M, and continue one hour. Deacon L M Parrish leads the meeting to day. Subject—"Faith, and its Results."

UNITARIAN CHURCH.—"Instructions in Doctrine." Rev Mr Eliot will preach the fourth sermon of this course to-morrow evening in the Unitarian Church, corner Yamhill and Seventh. Subject—"Scripture Testimony Concerning Our Lord."

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.—Dr Lindsley will officiate morning and evening to morrow. The evening's discourse will be commemorative of Washington. Gentlemen will be in attendance at the doors to conduct strangers and visitors to seats.

AMUSEMENTS.

ORO FINO THEATER.—The 'Lancashire Lass' was played last night again to a good house. To night, "Black Eyed Susan" and "Wild Oats" will constitute the bill.

MATINEE.—There will be general rejoicing, we think, to learn that Mr Waldron will afford one more opportunity for the public to see the splendid drama of Rosedale. It will be played at the matinee to day.

A THIEF STEALS TIME.—A burglar got into Mr Hillman's house, Thursday night and got away with a coat and an alarm clock. Old Time has been charged ever since time was with being a thief and robber, but this burglar beats time amazingly, having stolen time. If that alarm clock would only alarm the fellow's conscience now Hillman might get his property back again.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

CHICKENS CHICKENS.—Quinn, as usual ahead of all competition has stocked his market with an extra fine and large lot of chickens. He has the only supply in town and can furnish families hotels and restaurants with any number either alive and kicking or nicely dressed, at prices that will satisfy everyone. An excellent opportunity therefore offered to epicureans. Of course you will find Venison, Smelt and Fish of all kinds at Washington street between First and Second streets—Quinn's Union Fish Market or at the branch store First street second door north of Taylor.

TO FARMERS AND OTHERS INTERESTED.—Hibbard, Front street, near corner of Alder has in store a fine lot of Potatoes, the 'King of the Early's' also Egyptian Seed Oats, and the best Wheat for farmers. Call in and see his varieties, particularly those potatoes. A full line of materials for the manufacture of wagons and other vehicles. His stock of Doors Windows and Blinds are complete.

MUSIC AND ART GALLERY.—Messrs Gill & Steel's Music and Art Gallery is one of the most complete in all its parts that has ever been opened in this city and they are continually adding to it by every steamer so as to make it more thorough and complete. A visit to their establishment is well worth the while of all, particularly as it costs nothing to examine the goods.

THE UMATILLA HOUSE at The Dalles is now completed and furnished in every respect unsurpassed. The office is the most cheerful and pleasant in the State, and the dining hall is unequaled. The rooms are all newly furnished. The house has twelve suites of rooms with stoves in them for families. The new house stands much higher than the old one. The ceilings are four feet higher which adds greatly to the cheerfulness of the rooms. The table is kept in a style to correspond fully with the appointments.

Four Millions of Invalids.

At the lowest computation there are never less than four millions of invalids in the United States. Of this number probably more than three-fifths have neglected the ordinary precaution necessary for the preservation of health, and are suffering the punishment due to their carelessness. If the multitudes who are now afflicted with biliousness, indigestion, rheumatism, intermittent fever, irregularity of the bowels, general debility, nervous disorders, &c., had at the very first symptoms of indisposition invigorated, regulated and purified their systems with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters two-thirds of them would at this moment be performing the active duties of life unannoyed by any ailment of the body or the mind.

This assertion is made advisedly. It is founded on experience, and is borne out by the testimony of a countless host of witnesses, whose [illegible] relations cover almost every locality of [illegible] and extend over a period of about twenty years. Of every [illegible] persons who take the Bitters as a preventive of the complaints above enumerated seven eighths escape them entirely and of every thousand who are actually attacked and use the great Vegetable Tonic as a remedy three-fourths are radically cured. These are not hap-hazard assertions, but statistical facts. They are based upon the results of inquiries made by more than fifty thousand persons in various parts of the country and upon the letters of prominent citizens of every State. It might almost be said of every county in the Union.

LITTLE HOMES!

WE HAVE OBTAINED MANY TESTIMONIALS, which appear in the WEEKLY OREGONIAN for the purpose of answering once for all the many inquiries in relation to our LITTLE HOMES. We desire to show to strangers, through men of known integrity in this community that they are all we claim for them—cheap at present prices and the speculation in them lies in the future growth of Portland in the building of Railroads and Bridges over the Willamette—which is merely a question of time—and in the fact that in less than one mile distant, City Blocks (200 feet square) are selling for from two to three thousand dollars, and in less than two-and-a-half miles (on a direct line) blocks are selling as high as $200,000 per block! Just think of it! $50 per acre for land and 2½ miles distant, $200,000 per acre! New York city is over twenty miles in length and six miles wide and many other cities in the United States are half that long and quite as wide and if Portland becomes a metropolis she will require this land for business purposes. Thirty years ago we could have purchased a section of land where the business portion of Chicago now stands for $10 per acre—$50 for a five acre tract. Thirty years ago we could have purchased the town site of Portland for a Cayuse pony—but we didn't have the pony! Twenty years ago a solitary individual with neither money nor friends found himself in Portland without a red. He purchased a basket "on tick" and filled it with oranges on the same terms and went to peddling. Twenty long eventful years have since elapsed. Still that sturdy old pioneer has stuck to Portland, and worked his way through thick and thin; and now where do you think he is?—in the poor house and owes for the basket! But to our

Sketch of Caleb Cushing

Colonel John W Forney in his Anecdotes of Public Men thus sketches the great Newburyport lawyer diplomat and sage

No member of the Geneva Conference raised under the Treaty of Washington to adjust questions arising out of that convention will attract more notice than the senior counsel of the American members Caleb Cushing of Massachusetts Born on the 17th of January 1800 and therefore on the verge of seventy two he is for his years one of the most vigorous intellects in the world His long career of more than half a century has been singularly varied A graduate of Harvard College in 1817 subsequently a tutor of mathematics and natural philosophy he studied law at Cambridge and settled at Newburyport, still his Massachusetts residence to practice his profession which he formily entered in 1822

In 1825–26 he served in the Legislature of the State in 1828 he visited Europe and published on his return Reminiscences of Spain a delightful book a profound review of the revolution in France He was one of the favorite writers of the old North American Review In 1833–34 he was again elected to the Legislature and was a Representative in Congress from 1835 to 1843 Appointed by President Tyler Commissioner to China he negotiated an important treaty On his return in 1846, he was again elected to the State Legislature In 1848 he was chosen Colonel of volunteers in the Mexican war, and was afterward made Brigadier General by President Polk In 1850 he was elected for the fifth time to the State Legislature, and in 1851 made a Justice of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts

When President Pierce was elected Caleb Cushing was made his Attorney General, and at the end of his term he returned to Massachusetts and was again elected to the Legislature He was President of the Democratic Charleston Convention in 1860, to nominate a President, and in July 1866, was appointed by Andrew Johnson one of the three Commissioners to codify and revise the laws of the United States When he accepted the post of American Counseler to the Commissioners under the English treaty, he was the advocate of the Mexican Government before the United States and Mexican Claims Commission Few men living can point to such an experience—few are better qualified by varied acquirements and personal address to cope with the ripe and thorough statesman sent by Great Britain to Geneva

General Cushing was for a long time one of the ablest of the Whig leaders, and when John Tyler served his connection with that party he and Henry A. Wise, and one or two more constituted what was [illegible] the Tyler Guard in the House After that he [illegible] changed his course, and became as prominent a leader of the Democrats At present, without any special party proclivities having reached what Sumner calls the "Philosophic Age"—he devotes himself to law and literature It is not denied that he is frequently employed at the Department of State, and no doubt by other departments, in the preparation of important papers I have heard him at a dinner table conversing in French, Spanish, English and German His style of [illegible] ing is exceedingly fascinating. Some eighteen years ago I was present at an oratorical combat between him and Jefferson Davis, at Newark, New Jersey where President Pierce halted on his way to the opening of the Crystal Palace at New York They were well matched Davis had the reputation of being one of the most graceful Southern debaters, but he found more than an equal in the Massachusetts dialectician As a newspaper writer he is unsurpassed While, I was one of the editors of the National Democratic organ, during Pierce's administration, Attorney-General Cushing, although deeply immersed in the business of his department, hardly let a day pass without sending me an article on some subject, and he frequently aided me on the Washington Chronicle He was at home on [illegible], on law, and especially on foreign questions

In society he is delightful. Excellent in conversation, his reminiscences are original and graphic It is very interesting to sit by and hear him talk of the characters of the past without hatred or prejudice A man of large wealth inherited and self earned, a widower without children, fond of labor, of [illegible] excellence as a practitioner in the Supreme Court of the United States, he is also a great student—devouring every new book as it comes out, novels inclusive, and remembering everything he reads His health is good, his activity remarkable, his habits temperate. Invited everywhere in Washington, he is the ornament of every circle, and it is not going too far to say that, gracious, polite and agreeable as all educated Englishmen are [illegible] ally those reared in high life —among his associates in the Geneva mission he will be one of the most popular,

A Business Woman

[From the (English) Gentleman's Magazine.]

The Nelsons of the "Bull Inn," Aldgate, were among the leading coaching families of the good old times of the road * * * The most enterprising member of this family was the widow, Ann Nelson, the directress of a score of coaches, who not only kept her team of crack coachmen in good order, but her comfortable old inn likewise, and, at a very advanced period of life, personally superintended all its details No damp sheets at the "Bull" in her lifetime, no drunken brawlers Nothing a minute over time or an inch out of place, I warrant you Up to her [illegible] year she was the last up at night, and all over the house to see that all was safe, the first up in the morning to see that all was in order Inside and outside the house and for fifty miles along the Eastern roads her influence was felt Did the coachmen of one of her [illegible], or her still more famous "Opposition," bring his team down her yard five minutes over time, he was reprimanded, ten minutes, and he was fined half a crown, a quarter of an hour, and he stood a good chance of being dismissed from the service The Southend "Opposition" had bad roads to contend with, but powerful machines were provided, and time must be kept The mandate had gone forth—the fiat that no consideration on earth must set aside One morning, the marshy roads of Dengie Hundred being [illegible] heavy, the coach came into the yard half an hour after its appointed time of arrival. The coachman, as was the wont of four horse drivers, on pulling up at the coffee room door, threw his whip [illegible] the wheelers' [illegible] Mrs. Nelson leisurely took it up and hung it on one of the hooks, quietly remarking "That whip is no longer yours, Philpot—half an hour behind." "But the roads are so bad, marm," remonstrated poor Toby "Road me no roads" ejaculated the lady, waxing warm "I'm sure, marm," ruefully pleaded Toby, appealing to his passengers "The gentlemen know I did my best, but I felt bound to spare the cattle." "I find the cattle, and employ you to drive them," responded the lady, "you have nothing to do but to keep time Draw your wages and leave the yard" Under this system is it not surprising that her coachmen were sometimes "pulled up" for driving too fast along the road On one of these occasions she appeared in court in defense of her man "I understand, Mrs Nelson" blandly remarked the chairman of the bench of magistrates, that you gave your coachman instructions to race the rival coach Not exactly replied the proprietress 'my orders to them are simply that they are to get the road—and keep it The venerable old lady died some dozen years ago, active almost to the last at the age of eighty five Her son John Nelson, who had identified with the business, although (in possession of an ample fortune) resided at the West end, and died in June, 1868, at the age of seventy four, and a few months afterward, the celebrated old 'Bull Inn,' which had been in the family a hundred and fifty years, was dismantled and sold by auction piecemeal, with its rare old stock of wines and quaint, old fashioned silver plate

The Oxy Hydrogen Light.

The new oxy hydrogen light, lately brought to notice has been successfully tested in the Crystal Palace London The new lights were displayed side by side with the like candelabra and gaseliers lit with gas in the ordinary way, the gas being turned on to the utmost

One candelabrum of twenty oxy-hydrogen lights was lit in the vast nave, and the illumination was perfect, bright and clear and ample for the whole length In the transept two gaseliers at the foot of the orchestra were lit with oxy hydrogen lights and two with gas On the stage of the theater one of the large candelabra was likewise lit in this way and the other with gas The gas lights in both cases looked yellow and even dingy The oxy hydrogen lights were soft stead and brilliant, eclipsing the gas completely At over a hundred yards away from them the address in small handwriting of a letter could be read perfectly and distinctly as also could small print in books; but not with gas lights

The oxygen, it is said can be made at a commercial price, indeed it actually costs in the production, no more than about seventy cents per thousand cubic feet The oxygen is obtained from the atmosphere—a boundless source The common gas light takes the oxygen it needs from the air and the gas engineer spreads out the flame of the gas jet bat wings and fish tails to enable it to seize as much oxygen as possible

The new light consumes no more oxygen than the old light it simply takes its oxygen pure instead of diluted The old light liberates all the larger volumes of heated residual nitrogen into the room or apartment in which the combustion goes on, vitiating and polluting the air, the new light has none of the residual nitrogen—it is all thrown off into the manufactory

The Boston Traveller announces the discovery and practical application of a fact of much interest to manufacturers and all others who use stationary steam engines It has been found that the waste steam from one engine can be used to heat the boiler of another if it stands sufficiently near, and this without requiring extra fuel firemen or chimneys The amount of power thus attained is equal if not superior to that of the engine from which the waste steam is received The heat of the second boiler is obtained by passing the waste steam through its flues and is filled with a volatile liquid mainly composed of the bisulphate of carbon, which boils at 1 10 Fahrenheit, and at the temperature of exhaust steam gives a pressure in the boiler of sixty five pounds to the inch. The vapor formed in this boiler is [illegible] to drive the second engine [illegible] of steam, and after being used is condensed by cooling, pumped into the boiler again and used continually with small loss Two engines arranged on this plan are now running at the Atlantic Works, in East Boston, and the power of the vapor engine is proved by careful measurement to be the greatest

The schooner Augusta will be laid on for Tillamook as soon as she finishes a few necessary repairs

The bark Melis has on 200 tons Wheat She will complete cargo on this side having crossed over this afternoon and will have quick dispatch.

No steamboat arrived from Oregon City to-day. The Senator goes up to-morrow morning at half past six o clock

Before the first day of June next it is confidently asserted that the Oregon and California Railroad will be completed as far as Oakland in Umpqua valley, if not farther extended So far we are unable to learn what tariff the Railroad Company propose having. In regulating the tariff it should be taken into consideration by the Company that it must be placed at such rates as will make it an object for traders in the Umpqua valley to make their purchases in this market. It is not enough that the rates be made so low as to induce those living immediately on the line of the [illegible] come here, but they should be such as will draw to us the traders in that valley living off the line, and who will go to San Francisco to make their purchases if the tariff is placed too high It should also be taken into consideration that there is a small [illegible]—the Coquille, plying between the Umpqua river and San Francisco, and also that the Umpqua river will be made navigable higher up than Roseburg several months in the year, and that these improved means of obtaining easy and quick transit for their goods up and produce down will operate very unfavorably against our interests, unless low tariff is made a specialty. The growth and prosperity of every place or section depends [illegible] upon the facility for marketing the produce Umpqua valley is claimed by many to be the garden spot of Oregon, but aside from stock raising its growth has been greatly retarded by having no means by which produce could be marketed, so as to make it an object for farmers to emigrate there, and also for those living in the valley to improve and cultivate their land The freight that will pass over the line of the railroad, if the proper course is pursued by the Company cannot be placed too high in comparison with what has gone into and passed out of the valley heretofore. The amount of available land for farming purposes we are unable to give but would judge it to be fully three-quarters as much as lies in this (Willamette) valley, but there will not be more than one-quarter of that placed in cultivation this season From what we can learn, however, next season if too high tariff does not interfere, nearly all the land will be placed in cultivation Railroads are like everything else it requires just so much to pay expenses and all over that is virtually clear gain, and it is to be hoped that the Railroad Company will take this into consideration, that the cheaper the freight tariff the more land will be placed in cultivation, and consequently the more will be the freight offering, which will allow them to run from two to four times the number of freight cars that would run with light freight offering and as is well known to old railroad men, the more money will be made by the railroad

Since the above was in type we have been informed by Mr [illegible], Vice President of the O & C R R Co, that it is the intention of the Company by all means in their power to [illegible] and foster agricultural and other industrial [illegible] along the line of their railroad and sections adjoining and to more thoroughly facilitate all industrial pursuits the tariff would be placed at as low a rate as possible as far as their line runs From this guarantee no one need have any hesitancy in sending all the land they possibly can in Umpqua valley as the tariff will be such that Grain can be marketed at low rates.

The following regulations concerning the transportation of Coal Oil has been kindly furnished us by Capt. Ainsworth which fully explains itself

CUSTOM HOUSE, PORTLAND, OREGON
COLLECTOR'S OFFICE, Feb'y 22 1872

J C AINSWORTH, Esq., President of the Oregon Steam Navigation Company Portland, Oregon—Sir In response to your communication of yesterday, with the enclosure therewith, relevant to the proper construction of and application of the decision of the "Honorable, the Secretary," addressed to "James Davis, Esq" Special Agent U S Treasury Department, New Orleans, Louisiana, dated Nov 21, 1871, concerning the transportation of crude or refined Petroleum and Coal Oil on passenger steamers, I would respectfully state that in my opinion it was not the intention of the Secretary that such decision should be regarded as an absolute prohibition to the transportation of Coal Oil on all passenger steamers where a compliance was had with the provisions of Sections 4 and 5 of the Act app Feb 28 1871 and Rule LVI made in pursuance thereof, but simply applied to the case in point and others similar thereto viz The route from Cairo to New Orleans, where there are railroads and regular lines of freight boats, exclusive of passenger steamers, and therefore other facilities for transportation without the use of passenger steamers The case of your passenger steamers is entirely dissimilar thereto They run on a route where there is no practical mode to transport the articles as [illegible] a portion thereof simply a pack trail often in an impassable condition, without pack trains thereon, and no freight boats wagon trains or railroads exist thereon To view the decision of the Secretary as applicable to all passenger steamers without reference to the exceptions enumerated in the aforesaid act, would be an absolute prohibition of commerce in an article essential in almost every household in many localities. Such I am confident was not the intention of the Secretary who rather desires to encourage commerce compatible with law and a due regard for the protection of lives and property I am clearly of the opinion that the transportation of refined Petroleum, Devoe's brand that will not ignite at a temperature of 110° is not prohibited on your vessels, when made in conformity with Sections 4 and 5, Act of Feb'y 28, 1871, and Rule LVI made in pursuance thereof I have conferred with the Board of Steamboat Inspectors for this District relevant thereto and will also communicate with the Department, through the proper channels as you desire and advise you of the result thereof

Very respectfully your obedient servant
GEO W F VERNON
Special Agent U S Treasury Dep t

Produce Market.

WHEAT—The high water prevents receipts from the interior and also the bark Melis from completing carg for which shippers are very anxious as it is drawing near the close of the shipping season to the United Kingdom

FLOUR—We noticed a small shipment of extra of one of our standard brands to the Dalles this afternoon The trade is confined principally to local wants. Prices remain the same as at yesterday s quotations.

FEED—The supply is running short under the steady call and without fresh receipts from the interior our market will soon be bare of Bran Prices remain unchanged

EGGS We note sales to-day at 35c ꝑ doz. The Oregon Central Railroad has [illegible] running which will bring forward quite a liberal supply

POTATOES—The invoice ex Augustus from Tillamook has been all [illegible], [illegible] 60 sacks, at $1 25@1 35 ꝑ 100-lbs

POULTRY—Receipts liberal to-day by the Oregon Central Railroad They were [illegible] of at from $7 to $8 ꝑ dozen

The City of Portland does ordain as follows:

Section 1 That the whole of Blocks numbered fourteen (14), fifteen (15) sixteen (16), thirty eight (38), forty-one (41) twenty nine (29), twenty-eight (28), thirty three (33) thirty four (34) twenty seven (27) twenty six (26) forty (40) thirty nine (39) one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4) five (5) and six (6) and also the west een halves of Blocks numbered seventy three (73) seventy four (74) seventy five (75) seventy-six (76) seventy-seven (77) seventy-eight (78) seventy nine (79) eighty (80) eighty-one (81) O. S. N Co s Block and Central Block, all in the city of Portland be [illegible] they are declared within the fire limits of said city.

Section 2. All buildings hereafter erected within the said fire limits shall have their outside walls and party walls made of brick stone or other incombustible material and such outside walls and party walls shall extend from the foundation to the top of and through the roof of said buildings, and the roof shall be covered with tin or some other incombustible material, and the walls shall be so constructed as to separate all wood work, thoroughly and completely, of the interior and exterior of such building from all and every part of the interior and exterior of any adjoining building. The term building as used in this section, shall not include privies.

Section 3 All repairs to buildings constructed of brick stone or other incombustible material shall be made to conform to this ordinance.

Section 4 No wood [illegible] within the said fire limits shall be altered or [illegible] without the written permit [illegible] of the Chief Engineer, approved by the Committee on Fire and Water which permit shall [illegible] fully the alteration or change [illegible], and no such permit shall be given if any [illegible] will be made by the proposed change or alteration in the size of any [illegible] building within the said fire limits. A copy of each of such permits shall be kept on file in the office of the Secretary of the Fire Department.

Section 5 No building within said fire limits shall be removed, except to a portion of the same lot on which it may have stood to make room for more permanent improvement or to a point outside the fire limits

Section 6. Whenever any building shall be by any means so much injured as to be in the judgment of the Chief Engineer and the Committee on Fire and Water a dangerous nuisance or when any wooden building within the fire limits shall in the judgment of the Chief Engineer and Committee on Fire and Water, be damaged by fire to the extent of one-half or more of its actual value the Chief Engineer shall immediately cause to be served upon the owner or person having control thereof, a notice requiring such person to remove the same forthwith, and the person receiving such notice shall, within ten days after receiving the same, comply with the requirements thereof.

Section 7 Any person or persons violating any of the provisions of this Ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof before the Police Court shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten (10) nor more than one hundred (100) dollars, and each day of maintaining or continuing such violation shall be deemed a new offense and punished accordingly

Section 8 The Chief Engineer of the Fire Department, the Assistant Engineers and the Secretary of the Fire Department are required to see that the provisions of this Ordinance are enforced and to make complaints in the Police Court for violations thereof
